Memorial for Capt. Ward.

In memory of the late William Ward, who lost his life in the wreck of the steamer Rio de Janeiro, of which he was the captain, services were held on March 10 at the Trinity Episcopal Church, in San Francisco. While being simple and brief, not occupying more than ten minutes, the services were impressive. Several musical selections were rendered by the church choir, and the pastor, Rev. Dr. Clappett, read passages from the Bible, including the fifteenth chapter of Corinthians.

The services were attended by about fifty persons, and among those present in mourning for the dead captain were his brother, John Ward, and Miss Lena Jackson, Captain Ward's intended bride. The altar was decorated with lilies.

Old Australia Overdue.

Lack of any means of communication with Tahiti other than by steamer from Auckland or San Francisco renders it difficult to obtain any news of the steamer Australia after she sails from the coast until the return of the vessel. According to the schedule made out when the Australia left San Francisco early in February, the steamer was due on the return trip on the 10th, but she had not been reported when the America Maru left San Francisco. On the last trip from Tahiti, made in ten and a half days, the Australia was stopped, she had no coal, and after slight repairs was sent out again on the long voyage of 3,700 miles to Tahiti. The steamer carried a supply of boiler tubes, and the delay of the vessel may have been occasioned by repairs made while in the port at Tahiti.

Hawaiian at Coronel.

The steamer Hawaiian, on the way from New York to San Francisco with freight, is reported to have sailed from Coronel, Chile, on March 10th, forty days out from New York. The Hawaiian is a sister ship of the Californian, which was launched last year at the Union Iron Works, and of the American and Oregonian, built on the Atlantic Coast. All are of 6,000 tons gross register. Captain Bantfield commands the Hawaiian.

Battleship Wisconsin Sails.

The battleship Wisconsin, under command of Captain Reiter, and fully armed, sailed from San Francisco on the 12th, on her first regular cruise, with Magdalena bay as her destination. On the deep and broad waters of that land-locked harbor the big guns of the new battleship will be given their first trial since being put in position, and officers and crew alike are looking forward with pleasure to the test of the heavy ordnance.

The Overdue Vessels.

The overdue vessels upon which reinsurance is quoted include the British ship Ardnamurchan, on eighty-seven days from Fraser river for Liverpool, 60 per cent; the H. Hackfeld, out 209 days from Philadelphia for Nagasaki, 20 per cent; the Khorasan, out 219 days from Tampa for Yokohama, 45 per cent; the Elizabeth Nicholson, out 104 days from Westminster for Shanghai, 40 per cent.

Will Take Soundings.

Captain Pond will take soundings of a portion of the harbor today or tomorrow. It is thought that there is some shoal water a little makai of the new Naval ship and that the water is but twenty-four feet in depth. This would be likely to interfere with the coming into the slip of transports and navy vessels.

Transport Logan En Route.

Word was recently received at San Francisco that the transport Logan left Nagasaki on March 9th, instead of the 7th, as erroneously reported. On board are General Young, 26 officers, and 769 men of the Thirty-third Infantry Regiment; 21 officers and 785 men of the Thirty-fourth Regiment, and the bodies of 250 deceased soldiers.

Brigantine W. G. Irwin Sold.

The brigantine W. G. Irwin has been sold by the Kinball Steamship Company to the Tacoma and Roche Harbors Line Company, and will be employed in carrying line to San Francisco. The Irwin sailed from San Francisco on the 9th for Roche Harbor.

BRITAIN AND CANAL TREATY
NEW YORK, March 11.—A special to the Sun from Washington says: Lord Pauncefoot, the British Ambassador, appeared at the State Department today and handed Secretary of State Hay a memorandum embracing instructions from Lord Lansdowne, British Minister of Foreign Affairs, in regard to the Hay-Pauncefoot treaty. The memorandum explains Great Britain's reasons for not accepting the Senate's amendments to the treaty and expresses regret that the negotiations should have been brought to such a conclusion. There is nothing in the British answer to suggest that a reopening of negotiations for a new treaty would be welcomed by Great Britain; in fact, the answer indicates that the Salisbury Cabinet regards the question of arranging a convention to take the place of the Bulwer-Pauncefoot treaty as ended. There is no doubt from the tone of the British answer that any attempt to reopen negotiations must be initiated by the United States.

COUNT BONI TO FIGHT DUEL

He Slaps the Face of a Parisian Editor and Gets Challenged.

PARIS, March 14.—Count Boni de Castellane assailed M. Fernand de Rodays, editor of the Figaro, today for insinuating that he (M. de Castellane) had betrayed the Deroude plot on the occasion of the funeral of the late President Faure, February 23, 1899. A duel is expected.

Count de Castellane interpreted a paragraph in the Figaro as alluding to him. He was accompanied by his father, the Marquis de Castellane, and a newspaper friend, M. Morel. They proceeded to the residence of M. de Rodays, in the Rue de la Chaussee d'Antin, situated in the center of Paris. The count asked to see M. de Rodays, and was ushered into the writer's study. M. de Rodays received the party in his dressing room. Count de Castellane said:

"You published in the Figaro this morning an abominable paragraph against me."

M. de Rodays replied that he did not understand what the count meant, to which the latter retorted hotly: "Will you retract or not?"

COUNT BONI AS A SLAPPER.
To this M. de Rodays replied by explaining that the paragraph was couched and that no mention was made of the name of Count de Castellane. Then, without further ado, Count de Castellane boxed M. de Rodays' ears severely and repeatedly.

M. de Rodays, who was seated, recoiled, and M. de Castellane followed him up and slapped his face severely. The Marquis de Castellane and M. Morel then interposed and protected M. de Rodays from further violence. The Count de Castellane party then withdrew.

M. de Rodays later in the day said he had decided to send seconds to Count Boni de Castellane.

The affair is the sensation of Paris. Since the death of M. Deroude at San Sebastian last month, in which he intimated that the Royalists of Paris had notified the police of his attempted coup d'etat, after his refusal to allow the Duke of Orleans to appear in the ranks of the agitators, very great interest has been shown in the subject of the identity of the Royalist emissary who approached M. Deroude and M. Marcel-Hébert on that occasion, the names suggested including Jules Guerin, the hero of Fort Chabrol, while the Royalists denied that the emissary acted in behalf of them.

The duel arranged to take place possibly today or tomorrow near Lausanne, Switzerland, between M. Deroude and M. Buffet, the agent of the Duke of Orleans, is a direct outcome of the discussion on the subject of the coup d'etat which failed.

The paragraph in the Figaro, which was the immediate cause of the assault upon M. de Rodays, was as follows: "People have been asking who is the person M. Deroude wished to designate. It appears that he is a member of Parliament, and it is affirmed that he is the young deputy whose name is best known, and who, on the eve of starting for America with his young wife last week, very loyally delayed his departure in order to reply, if necessary, to the polemics which may develop."

The Claudine for Kahului.
Whitney's steamer Claudine, Captain Parker, sailed for Kahului and way ports yesterday evening about 5 o'clock. Dr. Raymond and two nurses were among those who took passage on the steamer. They have been called to Makawao by the serious illness of Dr. McKibbin. The following is a list of the Claudine's passengers: J. A. Dowsett, wife and child; Dr. Whitney and wife, R. F. Carr, Edward C. Brown, Miss Edwards and assistant nurse, W. H. Feary, J. Sexton, James W. K. Keola and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kinney, C. H. Snyder, Dr. Raymond, Tang Yang, Miss M. Kaeo, Rev. J. E. Kekeli, Rev. J. G. Kina, Thomas Wilson, Lew Wal, Geo. L. Joseph, Law, Ah Fong, Wang Kung, Rev. J. K. Josepa, wife and three children.

Rio Wreck in Court.
The story of the wreck of the Rio de Janeiro will be told in court. On March 12th, in San Francisco, the first suit growing out of the disaster, was filed in the United States District Court. The plaintiff, Mrs. Sarah Guyon, who is the widow of Henry Guyon, one of the victims, has brought two actions, one to recover $25,000 damages, and the other for the cost of transportation and the personal effects lost in the wreck.

The plaintiff makes sweeping charges of neglect. The officers of the vessel are arraigned for not making proper soundings when coming into the harbor, and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company is held responsible for not providing a crew of intelligent men who understood the English language, and a sufficient number of licensed officers.

BY AUTHORITY.

MR. WM. KAHALOOLE has this day been appointed a member of the Board of Fence Commissioners for the District of Koolaukopo, Island of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, vice A. Ku, deceased.
